Career Coaching for Graduate Students

LGS offers career coaching appointments for graduate students with a range of professional career coaches who specialize in different areas. Our coaches are very experienced with graduate education and can offer guidance on topics such as: navigating general questions about graduate school, assessing your strengths, interests, and values, practicing strategies for networking (in-person and online), learning about diverse career paths, assembling documents (i.e. resume, cover letter) for job applications, and interviewing strategies.
